

CPAS, A Xerox Company, recertified to the ISO 9001 Standard

Toronto, ON – November 7, 2013, CPAS, A Xerox Company, has successfully passed its ISO 9001:2008 Recertification Audit, conducted by SAI Global, an independent third-party auditor.

Based on the evidence and the findings of the audit, CPAS' Quality Management System has been deemed to be well maintained, in accordance with the requirements of the ISO 2001:2008 standard.

“The ISO 9001:2008 standard, which is recognized around the world, is extremely comprehensive. This reassures our customers that CPAS maintains consistency in all phases of our operations and demonstrates CPAS' continued worldwide commitment to our clients and our quality of service,” said Gulzar Rizvi, CPAS ISO management representative and Quality Assurance manager.

CPAS Managing Director David Rive added, "We're proud to have completed the recertification audit with 100% conformance to the rigorous ISO standards. It speaks volumes about our focus in creating and implementing a Quality Management System, which provides for continuous improvements in product development, support quality, increased customer satisfaction, and a dedicated, systematic approach to overall quality management.”
